Valentine's symbols and their meanings

The Heart: In times past, people believed that emotions such as love and happiness were found in the heart. In later years, they thought only the emotion of love connected with the heart. The heart is still a symbol of Valentine's Day.

Red Rose: The rose was the favourite flower of Venus, the Roman Goddess of love. Red is a colour that stands for strong feelings. This is why the red rose is the flower of love.

Gloves: In times past, when a man proposed he asked a woman for her hand. The hand then became a symbol of marriage and love. Soon, gloves became then symbol of love.

Love Birds: They are called lovebirds because they sit so close together in pairs.
